New York Flute Club Season and Join/Renew Information for 2018-19

Dear current or recent NYFC member,

Welcome to the 99th season of the New York Flute Club! As we approach our centennial, we have a variety of exciting plans to announce. Along with our regular concert series, we will sponsor several masterclasses and monthly ensemble program get-togethers. Our records show that you have not yet renewed your NYFC membership for 2018-19 (note that the expiration date of your most recent membership can be found on the address label above your name). We're looking forward to seeing you this year, so please renew (online at www.nyfluteclub.org or by mail) without delay!

Our Sunday afternoon concert series kicks off on October 21st with a celebration of flutist-composer Harvey Sollberger's 80th birthday. The November 11 concert commemorates Armistice Day with repertoire from the World War I era, performed by Laura Gilbert and the Auréole trio, Judith Mendenhall, and others. Principal flutist of the National Symphony Aaron Goldman offer a masterclass and recital in December. To start 2019, we partner with the Center for Jewish History in a program of music by New York Jewish composers (Bernstein, Copland, Bloch, Serebrier, and more). In early March, Vienna Philharmonic principal flutist Karl-Heinz Schütz, who was unable to appear at last year's flute fair, will present a recital on the regular concert series. The annual Flute Fair will feature guest artist Jeffrey Khaner, principal flutist of the Philadelphia Orchestra. In addition to our annual NY Flute Club Competition and Young Musicians Contest, we will offer educational events throughout the year and an ensemble program open to all members (first rehearsal Sunday, September 16).

We want to be a club for the entire New York flute community, offering opportunities for our diverse members to get to know and learn from each other. One of our goals for the centennial is to add another 100 members, and we need your help in reaching out to NY-area flutists! Bring a friend or colleague to a concert, encourage your students to become acquainted with the Club's activities, and/or purchase a guest membership for your favorite flutist (an option at our online store). Help us ensure that we're able to serve the current generation of flutists and many generations to come.

Questions or suggestions? All of our board members are here to listen and help. Start with one you know or go straight to the undersigned: NYFC president Nancy Toff (best for organizational/concert/centennial matters) or NYFC membership secretary Kathy Saenger (best for member account matters).

Best,

Nancy Toff
