Ji Young Kim (first prize), age 24, received her bachelor of music degree with first class honors from the Royal Academy of Music in London, where she studied with William Bennett and Kate Hill. She has won prizes in the Royal Academy of Music Flute Competition, the British Flute Society Competition, and the Korea Flute Association Competition. Ms. Kim is currently working for an MM in flute performance at the Juilliard School, studying flute with Carol Wincenc and Robert Langevin and baroque flute with Sandra Miller. She has performed throughout Europe, South Korea, Canada, and the United States.

Anne Chao (second prize), age 21, was born in the United States and grew up in Taiwan, where her teachers were Shu-Chun Chiang, Tzu Kao, and Hui-Hsueh Sun. Her numerous awards include first place finishes at the New Taipei City Music Competition and the Taiwan National Student Competition of Music. Ms. Chao enjoys sharing her music with the community, and she has played recitals in venues including concert halls, hospitals, nursing homes, and restaurants. She is currently studying for a bachelor’s degree in flute performance at the New England Conservatory with Renée Krimsier.

Junhyung Park (second prize), age 22, is a Korean-born flutist. He started playing flute at the age of 11 and began professional studies at the Seoul Arts High School. Park has won top prizes in the Ewha & Kyunghyang Competition, Korea Flute Association Competition, and Chunchu Competition. He performs as principal flute of the Boston Philharmonic Youth Orchestra and also plays with the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra. He has participated in masterclasses with Maxence Larrieu, Julien Beaudiment, Loïc Schneider, Daniel Castellon, Michel Moragues, Sandrine Tilly, Shengqi He, Yuki Koyama, and Hyeri Yoon. He is currently studying at the New England Conservatory of Music, where he is a student of Paula Robison and a recipient of the Tan Family Education Grant.

The Annual Meeting of the New York Flute Club, Inc. will take place at 5:00 pm, immediately preceding the concert.

The New York Flute Club thanks Phil Unger and the New York Flute Center for funding the first prize of the 2022 NYFC Competition.
